

Conservation Foundation of the Gulf Coast Volunteer Opportunities

The Conservation Foundation of the Gulf Coast is committed to land conservation that meets four priorities -- conserving habitat, protecting shoreline and water access, connecting lands, and providing recreational access.

Support the Land Stewardship program funded by our Impact100 SRQ grant with monthly land opportunities. Want to get your hands dirty and experience natural Florida in all its untamed glory? If so, pulling invasive plants, planting native plants, maintaining trails, and nurturing the land with our land stewardship team may be just your thing. In addition to special seasonal projects, interested volunteers are invited to join our land stewardship team on the last Friday of each month. These monthly stewardship events occur from 9:00 am to 11:30 am and are followed by a potluck picnic.

Volunteers will primarily be planting native trees at our Myakka Headwaters Preserve. Interested volunteers should be capable of working outdoors on uneven terrain for the duration of the visit.
